"No, sir," replied Wernimont. The answer had barely come from the witness' lips when Mr. Galloway, half rising in his seat, exclaimed "He's a liar!"

The vehemence with which the declaration was made startled the court and everyone in the room. Balliff Peterson rapped for order and Judge Wheeler, as soon as he had overcome his surprise, demanded to know the name of the person who had thus J. R. When the case against Guy E. The case was accordingly dismissed and the costs were taxed to the prosecuting witness. Miss Waltermire, but were paid into court by Moyes' attorney at the request of the young man's mother. Moyes' preliminary hearing on the charge of bigamy, filed against him by Mrs. Moyes No. 1, is set for this morning in Justice Carson's court, It is understood that Moyes' relatives are making a strong effort to have it dismissed. Mrs. Moyes No. 1 is said to have left the city for her former home in Illinois and will not be on hand to prosecute. Assistant County Attorney Kimball stated yesterday that he would prosecute the case without Mrs. Moyes, as there was sufficient evidence irrespective of her testimony. Moyes makes no denial of his marriage in Illinois to the first wife and the records of the district court are relied upon to prove his marriage to Miss Waltermire.

Census Bulletin Shows Immense Progress in this Line of Industry.

LEADS WORLD IN COTTON PRODUCTION

Home Manufacturers in All Lines of Textiles Crowd Out Foreign Until Only Little Over 9 Per Cent is Imported.

WASHINGTON, June 27 .- The Census oureau today issued a report on the combined textile industry of the United States for 1900. The branches included in the industry follow: Cotton manufacturers, including cotton goods and cotton small wares; wool manufacturers, including woolen goods, worsted goods, carpets and rugs other than rags, felt goods and wool hats; silk manufacturers; hosiery and knit goods; cordage and twine; linen goods; jute goods, and dying and finishing textiles.

The census shows a capital of $1,042,997.

577 invested in the 4,312 establishments representing the industry. The value of the products is returned at $931,494,566; to produce, which involved an outlay of $209,622,-447 for wages; $63,122,915 for miscellaneous expenses and $521,345,200 for materials used, mills, supplies, freight and fuel,

The value now represented for hosiery and knit goods cannot be divided between cotton and wool, but if it be added to the reported home production the total value of the textiles consumed in the United States in 1900 is $895,587,581, and the percentage imported is only 9.18.

Leads the World in Cotton.

The report says the census tables seem to indicate that the United States in 1900 was the leading country of the world in the manufacture of cotton, but quotes other authorities and adds:

"Although the amount consumed by the countries of the European continent exceeded that consumed in the United States, the consumption in the latter country greatly exceeded that of any one of the countries of France, Germany, Austria, Russia and others.

"It is, however, universally known that Great Britain is far in the lead in cotton manufactures. The fact is brought out in the special on the cotton industry that an immense proportion of the spinning in the United States is coarse or medium yarns, whereas the average spinning on the other side of the Atlantic is much finer." The report concludes:

"The sudden springing of the southern states into prominence in the cotton in-dustry is shown strikingly by the total increase of capital from $20,413,000 in 1880 to $62,623,700 in 1890 and to $137,172,500 in 1900. Ten years ago and also in 1880 Georgia was easily the leader among the southern states, but it has now been surpassed by both South Carolina and North Carolina, in each of which states the value of products was not much less than in the states of Maine and New Hampshire, where the industry has been established for half a century, and in the number of hands em ployed both North and South Carolina surpass both of these New England states."
