CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Cold Weather of Last Week Stimulated the Demand for Winter Goods.

RETAILERS' STOCKS ARE RUNNING LOW

Sugar Market Lower Than a Week Ago, but Coffees Shows Another Advance—Cotton Goods Also Moving Upward.

Retailers in this section of the country sold more goods last week than for some time past. The cold weather was undoubtedly responsible for the improvement in trade, as heavy weight goods were an absolute necessity for anyone who had to be out of doors. Retailers who have been in the city during the last few days say that their stocks of winter goods are going to pieces at a rapid rate and that they will now be obliged to carry over very little stock. That of course is a great benefit to both retailers and jobbers and puts merchants in a position to stock up freely on spring and summer lines.

Wholesalers had a rather quiet week owing to the fact that cold weather had a tendency to keep merchants at home and to make them hold back their orders for spring lines. Jobbers however are not complaining, as they would prefer that merchants clean out their winter lines, even though in so doing spring business is delayed to some extent. Jobbers are now more confident than ever that they are going to do a record-breaking spring business, as all conditions seem to be favorable.

There have been about the usual number of price changes during the week under review. None of them, however, have been at all radical, but simply indicate a good, strong, healthy market. Those who ought to know say that it has been a long time since values were on a more firm or stable foundation than they are at the present time and predictions are freely made that a great many classes of goods will be selling considerably higher in the near future than they are at the present time.

Collections are in very satisfactory condition, but it is thought that the present cold weather will have a tendency to make merchants even more prompt than they have been, owing to the fact that they are disposing of their winter goods very rapidly.

Sugar Lower, Coffee Higher.

Wholesale grocers report the volume of business for last week as being of very satisfactory proportions for the time of year. The market is also in a good, healthy condition. Sugar has eased off 5c per hundred since last report. Beet sugar refiners have withdrawn from the market entirely, preferring not to let go of their holdings at the present low figures. The general understanding is that there is not much beet sugar left in first hands, but what the refiners are holding they evidently want more money for than the present market would net them and are going to wait for higher prices.

The coffee market has been steadily hardening, there being an advance almost every day. As compared with a week ago the total advance amounts to from ¾c to 1c per pound. Those who are well informed are satisfied that still higher prices will rule in the future.

Owing to the cold weather of last week the bean market has advanced 7½@10c per bushel.

There were several interesting developments in the dried fruit situation last week, which will tend to strengthen the market. Word has been received that a number of the Santa Clara associations have pooled their interests in prunes and fixed a limit at which they will sell their goods. A governing committee has been appointed and each transaction must be approved of by that committee before it becomes effective. As these associations which have banded together control a very large part of the holdings in the Santa Clara valley the feeling is that outsiders will soon be cleaned up and the market become firmer, if not higher. In the northwest the Willamette Valley association has bought up a large share of the outside prunes and are now holding for a rise amounting to ½c above the lowest mark. Peaches and apricots are so well concentrated that they will go out at fully present if not at higher prices.

Another important announcement in the dried fruit market is that outside holders of raisins have increased their prices from ¼c to ½c per pound since the action of the association in reference to continuing their old prices indefinitely.

In the line of canned goods it is said that there is considerable speculative buying of tomatoes, caused by the feeling that present prices are below the cost of production and that quotations in the future must be higher.

Almost without exception it is said that Iowa packers are sold up on corn for future delivery.

The rice market is in a very strong position, with indications favorable for considerably higher prices on Japan grades.

The demand for fish is rapidly improving and it looks now as though consumption during the Lenten season would be unusually heavy. The market for family whitefish has advanced 25c per half-barrel since January 1, with every prospect for still higher prices. Holland herring is 1½@2½c higher than it was a week ago. The same as with whitefish higher prices are looked for in the near future. All grades of smoke fish are very firm,
