LITTLETON ATTACKS CRITICS

New York Representative Boasts W. J. Bryan and Henry B. Martin in Speech Defending His Acts.

(Continued from First Page.) David Lamar, a beef operator in Wall street, is the depression of steel stock. He charged that William Jennings Bryan had "gone off half-cooked" in the Commons in his comment on the steel investigation.

Mr. Littleton did not demand that the house investigate his charges, announcing that he would content himself with the statement of his position and denial of the allegations against him.

Most of Mr. Littleton's speech was devoted to a defense of his position on the committee and to a complete denial of the accusation that he was allied with the "trust interests." His references to Mr. Bryan were based on the Nebraskaan's editorial declaring that Mr. Littleton was a "thoroughgoing reactionary" and "will be retired from the committee if the house democrats really desire that democratic procedure on the trust question be accepted seriously."

Let me say here and now that if in my service upon committee on inquiry into the steel trust, I have been influenced by the corrupt influence of Henry B. Martin or the notorious outside influences represented by William J. Bryan, or the combined influence of both, I shall refuse to obey the mandate of my party and shall prefer to subscribe myself to the obligations of my oath.

As a part of the trust legislative plan President Taft has suggested a federal incorporation act. He has stated his belief that a statute might be drawn, not as an amendment to the anti-trust law, to furnish protection which would induce companies engaged chiefly in interstate trade to agree to government supervision of their transactions.

The National Monetary commission will submit the report of its long and exhaustive inquiry by January 5. The Central Reserve bank plan advocated by former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, has been practically unanimously endorsed by the American Bankers' association.

Of unusual interest in the senate will be the continuation of the inquiry into the right of Senator Larkin of Illinois to retain his seat. Hearings in the case which have been going on in Chicago since October will be resumed here tomorrow.

Conservation policies are to be urged on congress. Included in this are water power, coal, phosphate, oil and gas and other resources. Early in the session the National Waterways commission will report recommendations. A report also will be made by the Securities commission relating to railroads and banks and the special Postal commission which has held sessions in Washington, New York and St. Louis also will report.

Lively discussions are expected in both houses on the immigration laws, the abrogation of the treaty of 1822 between the United States and Russia, campaign publicity and a bill proposing legislative power to be conferred upon the Territory of Alaska. An effort also may be made to abolish the new court of commerce.

The personal of the house and senate has changed somewhat, the democrats of the house having gained one more in their majority. There are five new members of the house, Daniel V. Stephens (dem.) of Nebraska, Joseph A. Tamm (dem.) of Kansas, Kenneth D. McKellar (rep.) of Tennessee, W. D. B. Alney (rep.) of Pennsylvania and William J. Browning (rep.) of New Jersey.

Obeliah Gardner of Maine succeeds the late Senator Frye in the senate and Hoke Smith comes to the senate from Georgia. Renewal of the effort to elect a president pro tempore of the senate in place of Mr. Frye will be made. Senator Bacon was the leading candidate of the democrats and Senator Gallinger, the leader of the regular republicans at the last session. Senator Clark was the choice of the insurgent republicans.

In the house an interesting feature of the session in all probability will be the abolition of the secret caucus by the democratic majority. Economy will continue to be the democratic "watchword" in the house. In this connection all the investigations into government departments by the house committee of expenditures are to be continued and recommendations are to be made along lines of economy for each department of the government.

Economy, it is said, also will guide the appropriations committee, the first democratic committee in many years to get a "crack" at the big appropriation supply bills, including the so-called " pork barrels." Representative Fitzgerald of New York is the chairman of the committee which will undertake the task of paring down the appropriations which for the year of 1911-1912 amounted to $1,000,000,000.

MUCH POLITICS THIS SESSION (Continued from First Page.) Opinion in Elevator Case. Associate Justice Lamar today rendered a decision affirming that of the circuit court of appeals, Eighth Nebraska district, in the so-called elevator case of the Lipdike Grain company, Nebraskans and Iowa Grain company, and Crowell Lumber and Grain company, against the Union Pacific and others. The opinion of Justice Lamar was dissented from by his associates, Justices McKenna and Hughes. The decision in effect directs the defendant railroad companies to pay elevator charges to the complainants.

board, which is expected to submit the result of its investigations on wool and cotton before the holidays. The way and means committee of the house, however, under the direction of Chairman Underwood, will begin at once the preparation of new tariff bills. Through-out the recess a force of clerks and experts have been at work preparing for the committee.

President Taft has given his pledge that when the tariff board submits its report on the wool and cotton schedules it will be his pleasure to make tariff recommendations to congress. The subject will be treated in a special message.

Meanwhile, however, the ways and means committee will begin preparation of revised schedules to include wool, cotton, iron and steel products, sugar, and other foodstuffs. An important schedule to come up is the sugar schedule, and in dealing with this the house and the ways and means committee will be guided somewhat by the report of the special committee of inquiry into the American Sugar Refining company, which is expected to report early in the session.

Conspicuous in the records of the congress will be the coming vigorous trust debates. The fight to amend the Sherman anti-trust law already is on. In the house the question will be first considered by the committee on judiciary. This committee has determined also to report bills amending the injunction statutes and the contempt statutes, the latter to include protection for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt. These will be pressed for passage before adjournment.

The committee has in hand a half dozen bills providing amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law. The most recent bill was drafted by Representative Henry of Texas, providing for penitentiary terms for violators of the trust laws and designed to eliminate from the Sherman law the "rule of reason" as interpreted by the supreme court. Some sort of bill is certain to come from the committee bearing on this problem. In the senate the trust question is under consideration in the hearings before the committee on interstate commerce, which will continue for some time.

Inquiry into Steel Trust. In line with the trust question will be the determination of the fate of the house special committee of inquiry into the United States Steel corporation. The steel corporation has protested against the continuation of the hearing in view of the filing of the government suit against it. The question is certain to be brought up in the house for settlement within a few days and it will provoke a lively controversy.

Somebody's Folly

What folly it is to select our wheat—
 Then wash and brush and scour it—
 Then grind it 20 times—
 Then sift it 10 times through silk.
 What folly it is if, by all these precautions, we don't get a flour that is better than others.
 But, if we do get it, what folly it is for housewives not to insist on this Gold Medal Flour.
 Which of us makes the mistake?
 Gold Medal Flour has come to outsell every other flour in existence.
 Just because we take those precautions.
 And because millions of housewives, after countless comparisons, have discovered the merit of Gold Medal Flour.
 Now they use in their baking just this cream of the flour—just these sifted-out granules—just
