GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Country Wheat Holders Are Letting

Go of Cereal. NEWS IS FAVORABLE TO BEARS

In Adition to the Record-Breaking Crop Outlook the Visible Sup-anxious to dispose of their grain as rapidly as it could be placed in readiness for shipment.

Oats have shown considerable weakness of late, but the demand has improved somewhat, and the buying has been largely by those having profits. Argentina oats were firmly held at the recent advance, and this was a help to the Canadian grain more than to the grain raised in the United States.

The line of May ribs held in the Chicago market is still intact. Some believe that the holders of the lines are eastern speculators, others say that it belongs to Chicago packers, while others claim that is the property of a coterie of grain men at Chicago. As long as packers are able to cut up hogs at profits they are likely to force prices downward, and as there is considerable competition at the yards for hogs on the hoof the buying of the manufacturers here will continue liberal.

Bearish sentimes, regarding wheat had quite an imposing array of facts on which to rely. In addition to possibility of import whenever desired from Argentina, the continued mild temperatures over the winter crop belt formed a telling influence frem the outset. It was also declared the country was selling reserves more freely than at any time since September. Hesides, world shipments were heavy, milling demand slim, and there was no export call apparent. Only one rally of much importance took place, and even that failed to last, and did not carry the market above the figures current at the previous close, what temporary strength there was came chiefly from a liberal decrease in the chiefly from a liberal decrease in the visible supply. Australian advices were bullish, but for the time being seemed to have lost their effect.

Corn sagged as a result of feeding demand falling off because of there being no immediate prospect of unusually cold weather. The market, however, displayed some power of resistance. There played some power of resistance. There was further buying on the part of large dealers who were conspicuous in purchasing at advantageous times last week. Oats showed more strength relatively than other grain. Traders seemed disposed to ignore Canadian shipments as a price making factor at present.

Packers bid up provisions. The lift was made feasible owing to higher prices being paid for live hogs.

such were not quite so strong as the best time last week.

Cows and helfers opened slow and weak, buyers' first bids being around 10c lower than last week. There was, however, a good demand, and as it becams apparent that the supply of cattle of that description was far from large the market firmed up a little until the more desirable grades at least were steady or very close to steady with last week. Here and there salesmen who did not happen to have something that just suited the buyers thought they had to take off a little.

Advices from eastern market were not Advices from eastern market were not encouraging when it came to fat steers. At the same time buyers seemed to be expecting a large run this week, and that together with weak reports from other selling points made them decidedly bearish in their views. They started out bidding prices that were all the way from 10c to 20c lower than last week, and in some cases bids were possibly worse than that. Sellers naturally were very backward about making any such concession as that, and the morning passed with very few cattle changing hands. In fact it was considerably later than usual before the trade was really under way. It was considerably later than usual before the trade was really under way.

Unsettled Weather Predicted for the Early Part of Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.-Unsettled weather will prevail during the first part of the week over much of the country but the latter part will be generally fair. the weather bureau announced today in its weekly weather forecast. The official bulletin said there were indications that the low pressures and rains and snows west of the Rocky mountains will be terminated after Moncay, and will be followed by rising temperatures until the latter part of the week when another disturbance probably will approach the north Pacific coast, bringing with it another period of unsettled weather over the north coast states at least.

In the plains states and the northwest snows or rains with continued high temperatures are probable by Tuesday or Wednesday, followed by fair and colder weather during the second half of the East of the Missouri river the weather will be unsettled with snows or rains during much of the week, except that it will be generally fair during Monday and Tuesday in the great central valleys, and on Tuesday and Wednesday in the lake region and the Atlantic states. In the south the weather will be un settled Monday and Tuesday with local rains followed by generally fair weather during the remainder of the week. It will be warmer Monday over the central portion of the country, and on Tuesday in the east and south. No unusually cold weather is indicated at present for any portion of the country.
