An interesting entertainment was given at the Presbyterian church last evening by the Busby Bee society. The programme was well arranged and excellently sustained by the little ones. Gen. Beadle will deliver an equal suffrage address at the Boyd school house Saturday evening, October 11, at 7:30 o'clock. Messrs. Stacy, Gilbert and

Herrick will calve the occasion with singing.

The citizens of Iroquois, Kingsbury county, have been successful in securing an artesian well. It is a gusher, and the water rises thirty feet above the ground. The flow was struck at a depth of 84 feet.

The attempt to sink 4 1/2 inch pipe into the artesian well is not being done with any degree of success. At a depth of 530 feet the small pipe shows a disposition to stop going deeper, and the workmen are having no end of trouble with it.

E. S. Abbott, who recently returned from a tour in southwestern Louisiana, brings flattering reports of the productivity of the lands of that section, and it is reported that several Seventh Day Adventist families of Lake county will remove thither.

The Ft. Dodge Messenger says that report comes that Bertha Diggie, the woman who was accused of murdering her husband at Clarion a year ago, is again in trouble. This time it is said she got into a row with Clint G. Ford, of whose company she was the star, and stabbed him with a knife, inflicting injuries from which he died in a few days.

Burlington, Wis., Free Press, 1: Mrs. Clarence Wood, of Madison, Lake county, S. D., accompanied by her sister, Miss Belle Graham, arrived at the home of their parents in this village last Wednesday and are having a delightful visit with parents, sister, relatives and former schoolmates. Mrs. Wood will remain in Burlington and vicinity several weeks while her sister, Miss Graham, will spend the winter at her home.

Several destructive prairie fires have prevailed in Lake county within the past few days. Last Tuesday a prairie fire started in Summit township and burned over a strip two miles wide and fifteen miles long, extending into Moody county. Saturday the prairie caught fire in Franklin township and did considerable damage, destroying hay and grain stacks. The greatest loss was in the Bagley neighborhood, the aggregate loss of the Messrs. Bagley being estimated at $700.

Yesterday a fire started about 2 o'clock p. m. in the vicinity of Ramona and burned over considerable territory. Fortunately no very great amount of damage was done, there being perhaps ten or twelve tons of hay burned. At one time there was danger of the fire running into Ramona, but a large force of men succeeded in subduing the flames.

Luverne Herald, 2: Judge Davidson returned from Osage, Ia., Saturday morning. The First National bank of Osage furnished security for Mrs. Willoughby to the amount of $1,000, and with this security P. J. Kniss and S. W. Thompson signed the bond for the appearance of Mrs. Willoughby at the next term of court. The prisoner was accordingly released and left Monday morning for Florida. Mrs. Addie Owens, who was charged last week by her daughter, May, with having set fire to John Cameron's livery barn at the instigation of Mrs. Willoughby, left town last Saturday evening and her present address is unknown. She was seen on the en-bound Omaha train east of Magnolia Saturday night by citizens of this place who were going to Sioux City, but it is claimed she did not get on the train at this place. At Worthington she bought a ticket on the Illinois Central road and went from Worthington to Lemars the same night.

The Officeholders all Right. Omaha Bee: South Dakota's board of equalization kicked up a live nest of hornets by a radical increase of taxation. In their wild anxiety to do the robes of statehood the people overlooked the vast and needless number of offices created by the constitution. The machinery of the state was not fitted to existing conditions. It was built to accommodate the largest possible number of office-seekers, and is ample for the needs of a state with five times the population. The ordinary tax levy would not pay running expenses, and the officials declined to work for glory. Private interest overcame public scruples and the officials exercised their power by adding twenty-eight millions to the total assessment and raising the levy to correspond. Subsequent proceedings were drowned in a howl of rage, but the offending officials find consolation in the assurance that that raise means prompt payment of their salaries.

Energy in Advertising. Dubuque Ledger: Thoroughness, industry and tact are necessary in writing and keeping up a series of paying announcements. Readers nowadays demand variety in what they read, whether it be in their literary matter, their news or their advertisements. Monotony tires them. Brevity and spice are absolutely essential to success in advertising. Ever ymerchant can with profit study the methods employed by large advertisers in attracting attention to their wares. It is not necessary that the style of any one of them be copied literally, but points can be secured from each and all which will be of assistance in working up a series of remunerative announcements. Each advertiser should use such suggestions as come in his way for all there is in them, adapting them to his own particular needs. Above all things never advertise your competitor by scolding about him. Advertise your goods, and get all the return you can for the money. Don't get into a rut.

WENTWORTH.

Mrs. DeVoe Addresses an Appreciative Audience—Personal and General Items.

Special to The Daily Leader. Wentworth, Oct. 4.—The people of this vicinity turned out in large numbers last evening to hear Mrs. DeVoe speak on equal suffrage, and she delivered one of the best and most pointed addresses on that question ever listened to in this village. She appealed to the hearts of men as sister to brother, not condemning men for what had done, but asking them to consider well what they will do next November. She made the evening still more pleasant by singing one of her popular songs. The audience appreciated her efforts by a contribution of $9.00.

Alex Fader has moved onto his farm, Frank Fintzel, his late tenant, having moved with his family to Madison. Dave Butzer had an auction at his place to-day.

Karl Glatzle departed for Milwaukee Thursday, where he will spend the winter.

Ab. Wright, the independent nominee for superintendent of schools, was down visiting his political friends to-day.

Chas. Grant will return to his home in California the coming week.

The Artesian Basin.

Aberdeen News: Mr. W. Gray, the contractor who has charge of the work on the Board well and is the business manager of the firm of Gray Bros. & Co., was a pleasant visitor at this office yesterday. Mr. Gray says that his firm have fourteen artesian well outfits in operation, five of which are in Dakota. He also has several in Wyoming and others at points in the east. He has had a long experience at the business and is possessed of a valuable fund of information relative to the geological formation of the artesian basin of Dakota. He says there is much concern among the people as to the source and intent of the subterranean water supply. His opinion is that the main source of supply for the artesian basin underlying the Jim river valley is in the Black Hills. He reaches this conclusion from observations of the strata passed through, and the depth of different wells he had bored in all portions of Dakota, including those in the Missouri valley from Bismark to the south line of the state. In the Santee agency Mr. Gray has put down a well completed at 750 feet when a flow of 1,500 gallons per minute was found. The depth of wells increase from there up the Missouri valley till at Mandan a depth of 1,500 feet is necessary to secure an artesian flow. The same is true of the Jim valley. The artesian basin extends westward to the Black Hills. Mr. Gray has one outfit at Mitchell, one at Iroquois, one at Jamestown, one at Mandan, and will move the one on the Board farm to Springfield where he has a contract for sinking a well in the city for power.

A Sad Case.

Dell Rapids Times, 3: James Turner, of Sanborn county, was in town over Monday night. He is an incurable but inoffensive lunatic and has been insane for over twenty years, his affliction having been caused by a fall from a railroad bridge which injured his spine, when about twenty years old. He was confined in the Minnesota asylum about fifteen years, when he was released as a harmless incurable. He tells and substantiates a tale of brutal cruelties which he suffered there. After regaining his liberty he made his way to Sanborn county, where his people reside. Not being able to work, owing to the harsh treatment received, he had to be supported by the county, and was finally sent to the Yankton asylum, where he remained about a year and a half, when he says he was sent to St. Paul by the asylum authorities in office at that time—three years ago—and from there was sent back to Sanborn county. He has been a county charge since and has been sent into three or four different states by the commissioners in an effort to get rid of him, but he has been sent back every time and when here was on his way back to his home from one of his enforced excursions. The poor fellow is quite bright in some respects and fully realizes his unfortunate position. He came here to see G. A. Uline, the chairman of the state board of charities and corrections, to ascertain whether the board would take care of him. He was provided with a ticket to Artesian City, Tuesday, and Mr. Uline will take the proper steps to have him committed in a regular manner to the asylum, where he may have a home and be properly cared for.

The Third is Lucky.

Chamberlain Tribune: Pierre took third place in point of population as to Dakota cities. Hughes county, in which she is situated, took third place in agricultural display at the state fair. She can be proud of her position, but where oh, where, was Beadle county? She was no where at all, except getting up an excursion for capital effect, but badges and brass bands capture nobody, as was practically demonstrated in last year's campaign.

whose age is said to be over 100 years, leads the program with new and startling features of worship. It is expected he will soon try to develop himself into the looked-for savior, as his prestige among the redskins seems to be great. This is, as yet, only speculation. They are perfectly peaceable, but do not like to have whites interfere or get too close to their meeting places. The civilized tribe will have nothing to do with the new fad, and frequently go and urge their wilder neighbors to desist from their practices, but with no avail.

IN MORMONDOM.

The Governor of Utah Makes Some Charges Against the Mormon Church.

Washington dispatch, 3: The Mormon question is discussed by Governor Thomas of Utah, in his annual report. He asserts the Mormon people are governed by priests and that in every political and business action the church is put first, the country afterward. The population of the territory is estimated at 220,000, an increase of 54 per cent during the past ten years. The Mormons are recruited by immigration from Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries. The average number of foreign born brought to the territory by Americans during the past nine years is about 1,800 annually and this average has probably been maintained the past year.

The governor says politically and officially that Mormonism deals in evasions and meaningless words, or words of doubtful meaning, hypocritical pretences and false assertions. Its attitude toward polygamy is divisive in the highest degree. It knows that there has been no change on the subject, but seeks to convey the impression that there has been. Prominent church officials, the governor says, have declared that the church does not now grant permits to enter polygamy, and the nominal head of the church has announced that polygamous marriages do not now take place.

The governor adds, however, that when the attention of the head of the church was called to the notorious case under investigation in the First District court, he disclaimed any knowledge of it.

Admitting these statements, however, are literally true, the governor says it does not prove that the church has met the public sentiment of the nation as expressed in its laws, nor does it prove that the church is loyal to those laws. There is no reason to believe, the governor asserts, that any earthly power can exact from the church any declaration opposed to polygamy. He accounts for the hold which Mormonism has upon the people by the fact that they are taught to keep aloof from influences outside of the church.

The governor recommends the passage of the bill reported in the senate by Edmunds, which authorizes the governor to appoint certain county officers and provided for legislative reappointment. He states if this bill becomes a law it will place the control of twenty-five counties in the hands of men loyal to the government. He also recommends the passage of either the Cullom bill or the Struble bill.

The Third is Lucky. Chamberlain Tribune: Pierre took third place in point of population as to Dakota cities. Hughes county, in which she is situated, took third place in agricultural display at the state fair. She can be proud of her position, but where oh, where, was Beadle county? She was no where at all, except getting up an excursion for capital effect, but badges and brass bands capture nobody, as was practically demonstrated in last year's campaign.
