LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mrs. Harry Chales went to Sioux Falls.
Ed Sheppard arrived by the incoming train from the north.
J. H. Matheny and family arrived from Vilas and joined the Chautauqua through.
Rev. T. H. Shanafelt of Huron was among the Chautauqua arrivals this morning.
I. D. Smith and family departed for their former home in Iowa on a few days' visit.
O. J. Tweed has reopened his Egan avenue drug store, having adjusted his financial difficulties.
Mr. and Mrs. James Elder arrived from St. Paul on a visit to their daughter Mrs. C. J. Porter.
Tim Lannon has laid a substantial sidewalk in front of his residence property on Madison street.
A. W. Holdridge departed by the morning passenger for Cedar Rapids, and other Iowa points.
Howard Wood yesterday handled the express between this city and Bristol, Messenger Listman being ill.

The cold storage warehouse at the world's fair burned last night and many firemen were killed and injured.

R. L. Webster, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Webster, departed for his home at Spokane Falls, Wash.

Mrs. Filcroft was among the passengers east this morning en route to points in Wisconsin. Mrs. Nichols accompanied her as far as Pipestone.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray departed by the afternoon passenger west en route to Sioux City. Mrs. Murray has won many friends at the Chautauqua grounds.

Mrs. Blosser, wife of the editor of the Westington Springs Republican, has been visiting the Chautauqua, the guest of Mrs. Wessel, departing for home this afternoon.

Miss Maggie Wadden, neice of John and V. R. Wadden, departed by the morning train for her home at Lanesboro, Minn. She was accompanied by John Wadden's little son Richard.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dooley have retired from the Dooley house and have been succeeded by Mrs. Keegan. Mr. and Mrs. Dooley will remove to Milwaukee where they will engage in the hotel business. Many friends in this city and county, where they have resided many years, will regret their departure.

E. W. Caldwell, editor of the Sioux Falls Press, South Dakota's leading newspaper, arrived by the afternoon passenger from the east. Cal is out canvassing the state in the interest of his newspaper and there is no doubt he makes equally as good traveling man as editor. Cal is pretty nearly a whole team in whatever capacity he is placed.

Chautauqua Day at the World's Fair has been announced for Tuesday, July 18th. Three sessions will be held, at two of which papers will be presented covering the various departments of the Chautauqua system. The evening session will be in the nature of a general rally. The C. L. S. C. counselors, President William R. Harper, who is principal of the Chautauqua system, and other prominent workers have been invited to be present, and a large attendance of Chautauqua readers and their friends is anticipated.

GOOD NEWS.

Sale of Valuable Black Hills Mining Property in which Madison Citizens are Interested.

From the Deadwood Times of the 7th inst. we extract the following: "A letter received yesterday from England, dated June 24th, relative to the purchase of the Bald Mountain Consolidated Mining company's property, stated that the deal is closed and that the parties will soon be here to take possession. On their arrival in New York they will telegraph that fact here. The sale has been pending quite a long time and both parties are to be congratulated—the purchasers for obtaining a valuable gold property and the sellers for realizing the amount they valued it at. The advent of this English syndicate into the Black Hills is merely the forerunner of others. The property this first one has secured is well developed, and from the present workings hundreds of tons of pay ore can be easily extracted. After a thorough examination by a competent and practical miner and expert sent by the new owners, the value of the property was fully demonstrated, the examiner himself investing heavily in the stock of the new company."

The real good news contained in the above is the fact that W. F. Smith of this city and Wm. B. Cameron, a former resident of Madison, are both heavily interested in the deal and the sale will increase their coffers by many thousand dollars. The deal has been on hand a year or more and Messrs. Smith and Cameron have each visited London to further the project. That the sale has been finally consummated will be a source of gratification to the friends and acquaintances of the gentlemen in this vicinity and throughout the state. Everybody who knows Wilbur Smith will appreciate what big money in his hands means. He is one of the most enterprising and openhanded men within the boundaries of South Dakota, and when he enjoys prosperity everybody under his influence partakes of his energy and things move along. Wilbur Smith is deserving the good deal he made in Black Hills mining property.

A Victory for Madison.
Properly adjusted spectacles and eye-glasses are something that Madison has long been in need of.

Prof. H. Hirschberg the well known expert of 629 Olive street, St. Louis, Mo. and 80 E. 14th street, New York, has appointed Frank Smith agent of his celebrated non-changeable spectacles and eye-glasses, where a complete assortment can always be found. Prof. H. Hirschberg will remain in Madison July 10 to 15 inclusive and all those in need of properly adjusted spectacles and eye-glasses should avail themselves of this opportunity. Consultation free.

INTEREST INCREASING.

Prof. Moody, Dr. Hutchins and Mrs. Yates—Col. Bain's Lecture Last Evening—Band Concert and Other Attractions To-Night.

PROF. MOODY.

One of the hardest worked men on the ground is Prof. Moody, teacher of the chorus class. We should think his work unsatisfactory to himself, at least. It is so unsystematic in its arrangement. He has to pull and haul from every quarter to get a chorus together, drill like a steam engine for an hour to get them thoroughly interested in a few delightful numbers and then they are disbanded and away again. He is next found drilling a squad for some special detail service in song, or more commonly doing the singing himself to "chink in." But there is one praiseworthy quality about Prof. Moody. He may be in this line the pack horse of the platform, but whatever he does, he does well, and does it with a will. We admire his steadfastness to duty under distracting conditions and sometimes wish that he too might go out occasionally on dress parade. His singing "The Old Turnkey" yesterday afternoon was well received by the audience.

DR. E. R. HUTCHINS.

Of Des Moines, grand chief templar of the state of Iowa, who was to have spoken on good templary at the auditorium yesterday afternoon, changed his subject to that of "Abraham Lincoln," owing to the fact that the audience had already been treated to a good deal of temperance talk by previous speakers. He brought greetings, however, from the Good Templars of Iowa to those of South Dakota and wished them faithfulness in the cause of temperance and success in the work. Since first the work began in Iowa Good Templary had grown from a few hundred to 13,000 who now propose to stand by principle until absolute prohibition was the law and constitution of their state. His address on Lincoln was a sketch of the martyred president's life, historical and remissent, eloquently presented.

ELIZABETH C. YATES.

"Truth stranger than fiction" was the title which Mrs. Yates, of Maine, gave to her plea for prohibition. Dressed in black this medium sized lady looks very pale as she stands before an audience and she had risen from a sick-bed to hold her appointment here. The only class of people protected from the saloon, she claimed, were life convicts. "Let the saloon alone and it will let you alone," claimed the advocate of the liquor traffic, and then the pale woman in black attacked the proposition in every assailable side with facts, figures and logic to show that it would let nothing alone. The individual, the family, the church, the taxpayer, the nation, were all taxed and injured by the traffic in liquor. Counterattractions were needed but that was not enough. Root it out. At the close of the lecture Mrs. Murray sang two pieces of a Scotch cast.

STEREOPTICON NON EST.

Owing to a blunder of some one, Prof. Davidson received a chest of carpenter's tools instead of his stereopticon yesterday at Madison, consequently there was no lecture in that line last evening. The time was pleasantly occupied, however, by the 4th regiment band and Col. Geo. W. Bain. The crowd will never complain at either of these attractions filling some other appointment. The band concert was all too short as it was, but its numbers were delightfully entertaining. The first was a march—Semper Fidelis; the second an overture—Semper Parvulus; and the third a fantasia—On My Old Kentucky Home.

COL. GEO. W. BAIN.

This matchless orator held his vast audience in close attention for an hour and a half last evening as he spoke of "Traits of Character." Men were the product of their environments which accounted largely for their differences in thought, speech and action. We should judge character from the narrow standpoint of prejudice or education. The character of the south is entirely changed as a result of the war—no one wants slavery now. It takes time to learn the good qualities of an individual, give him a fair trial. The two great dangers to our country to-day are recklessness in marriage and recklessness in electing men to the legislature. Two schools are badly needed—a school of economy and a school of theology. But we should learn that every experience of life is a school. People are unconscious learners hence the smallest influence is of importance. Every tone of the voice is constructive or destructive of family happiness. Try to make every one happy. Wit conduces much to happiness in this world. Cultivate the trait of human sympathy and love. In all cases stand by the right. The Colonel's speech is flowery with rhetoric, touching with pathetic incident by way of illustrating a point, and in impassioned appeal and burning eloquence, he has few equals.

ROUND TABLE.

Rev. W. H. Jordan took charge of the Round Table at 5 p. m. and delivered the first of the lectures in the university extension course in this case introductory to the religion of the Greeks. A committee on the nomination of officers for the Lake Madison branch of the

C. L. S. C. was appointed, consisting of Henry Neill, Mrs. C. E. Hager and Mrs. J. A. Trow. The committee in its report recommended the election of R. N. Kratz, Mitchell, president; Mrs. Lulu Ramsey, Woonsocket, vice president; corresponding and recording secretary, Miss Emma Roberts, Madison; treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Trow, Madison. The election of officers takes place Recognition Day. Miss Emma Roberts was elected secretary pro tem. A committee consisting of Rev. W. H. Jordan, Mrs. Trow and Miss Roberts were elected to solicit funds for a hall in the grove.

TUESDAY.

BOATING ON THE LAKE
is at a standstill because of too much wind—if attempted it would be anything but a standstill. A more exciting sea for yachting could not well be imagined.

BIBLE SCHOOL.

Whatever the attractions, however, Dr. Parks has always a good attendance at his bible class. The time was occupied this morning discussing the seven seals in the 4th and 8th chapter of Revelation. The leader entered into an exposition of the theophany which he considered as representing all created intelligences worshipping the creative power of God. The breaking of the seals and the unfolding of the book suggest the enlightening of the world. Christ being the ultimate redemption of the world he is there represented as the one opening the way by revealing the spirit.

THE OUTLOOK CLUB.

held its reception last evening and had a most enjoyable time. No gentlemen were present but the young ladies had things all the more to their own sweet liking. Miss Nellie Grant took first prize for guessing the greatest number of the names of authors quoted.

To-day the club discussed first the question, "Is a young lady ever justified in marrying a man with the idea of reforming him?" It was decided in the negative. Another question was, "Who is the head of the house?" This was decided in favor of two heads. An observer remarked that never before had they seen so much animation among the young ladies in discussing any subject. All took part freely, enjoyed and apparently profited by the occasion. Tomorrow the Outlook Club will discuss the topic, "Keep thyself pure and uplift the standard for the people," Mrs. Crammer opening the discussion. Thursday Mrs. Hassell, instructor in literature, will open the discussion and Friday, Mrs. Hager will lead the debate in, "The young woman in reform."

W. C. T. U.

At 10 a. m. the ladies of the W. C. T. U. met in their tent and discussed the organization and work of local unions. Mrs. Parks, Mrs. Emma A. Crammer, president of the state organization, and Mrs. E. P. Meyers, corresponding secretary, all made permanent addresses and all have been engaged in this work for years. This is one of, if not the liveliest meeting on the ground and should be attended by every lady on the ground. Henceforth this union will meet only once a day at 10 a. m. in this tent. Subject to-morrow will be, "How to keep up the attendance and interest at local unions."

"THE HOROSCOPE"

Was the title of Elizabeth U. Yates' lecture at 11 a. m. She would forecast the coming woman. Freedom and liberal education the opening key to all pursuits. Women to-day are taking all the prizes away from the students of the Harvard Annex or the Senior Wranglers of Oxford, England. Her intellectual superiority is already acknowledged. In the future, the intellectual productions of women will not be discounted as in the past when labeled with a feminine trade mark; 3,000 women are to-day studying for the practice of medicine, many also are practicing law and in the future by the decree of righteousness, they will sit on the bench. To-day 136 women are preaching from the pulpits in the church of Christ, and will yet sit in ecclesiastical courts. The coming woman will also vote and wear sensible clothes if the men will let her.

PATROTIC PROGRAM

for Wednesday afternoon in auditorium immediately following lecture. "Guarding the Flag," Patrotic drama in three scenes.

1. Trilogie: Veterans, Sons of Veterans, and Daughters of Veterans. Stand by the Flag.
2. The States. Old Glory's Star on Forty-four.
3. The Guard. Columbia the Gem of the Ocean.

A REHEARSAL.

for the drama, "Guarding the Flag", is called for Wednesday morning, (tomorrow) at 8:30 in the auditorium. Each one having a part in that should be present or assure the conductor of their ability to be on hand and take their part. The rehearsal will not require much time.

THIS EVENING

the assembly chorus will begin at 6:30, the 4th Regiment band concert at 7:30 and Prof. W. L. Davidson's lecture on Switzerland at 8:30 whether his stereopticon comes or not. Miss Rush, the noted violinist, will play before the lecture.

CHAUTAUQUA CONCERT

to-night at 7:30 at the auditorium by the 4th Regiment band, M. E. Reed director. Program:

1. Presidential Polonaise—Souza.
2. Overture, Strathmore—Bennett.
3. Medley selection on southern plantation songs—Conferno.

4. Waltz, Beautiful—Blue Danube—Strauss.
  5. Descriptive Fantasie, Dance of the Goblins—Lorraine.
- Synopsis—Near 12 o'clock, midnight; the night birds, owls, crickets, etc., are heard; the steeple clock strikes the hour; the goblins assemble at the old churchyard, they begin to dance, until they are suddenly frightened away by the watchman's pistol, but after awhile return and dance livelier than before, more particularly a young goblin; the whistle of a steamboat is heard; when the dance is at its height a second pistol shot scares them away; the hurried music and weird effects then describe them scattering in all directions.

NOTES.

Recent arrivals at the Grand View have been Dr. E. R. Hutchins, wife and daughter, Des Moines, Iowa; H. H. Downes, Minneapolis; H. S. Clark, Minneapolis; C. W. Brown, Etna, Hurning, B. C. Dow, Sioux Falls; C. E. Prentiss, Vermillion; O. S. Stevenson, Sioux Falls; Rev. O. A. Phillips, Arlington.

Mrs. Thurston, tent No. 28, has found a gold necklace which she will return to the owner if the latter will call and prove property.

Lawrence, son of Rev. E. L. Dresser, of Plandreau, met with a painful accident last evening. While standing unguardedly on broken glass or pottery with his bare foot some other lad stepped on his foot and a piece of glass under one of his toes cut into the bone, almost severing the member.

Mrs. Emma Crammer, of Aberdeen, president of the state W. C. T. U. is taking an active part in many of the schools.

Others than White Ribboners are invited to attend the women's meetings in the W. C. T. U. tent. The meeting is open for all ladies. So says Mrs. Parks.

Any G. A. R. or W. R. C. member or teacher in out public schools who wants to secure Patrotic literature enough for a whole year, can get it in the "Acme Haversack" a little publication which can be obtained of Prof. Dempster for 15 cents.

Incoming trains to-day brought guests for the Grand View as follows: Hon. A. L. Hager, brother of Superintendent Hager, and family, of Iowa; Rev. T. M. Shanafelt and wife and Miss Eva Geldery, Huron; Geo. Duncan, Woonsocket, Mrs. W. J. Johnston and Miss M. J. Scott, Onida, S. D. There have also been many arrivals by team for tenting on the ground.

Prof. Moody was heartily encoored when he sang the "Breaking Waves" at the beginning of Mrs. Yates' lecture, and responded with "The flower may hide its lovely face."

Col. Bain took his departure to-day for Fremont, Neb., and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Murray for Chicago.

Owing to some misunderstanding in regard to advertised rates for meals the committee on Chautauqua dining hall has decided to serve dinners at the same price as last year, viz: 35 cents.
