The entertainment given by the Oxford club at the opera house last evening was choice and most enjoyable in every respect. There was any variety of instruments played upon but the players were artists in every case.

Pierre Journal, 17: County superintendents have been calling upon the state department to know where they are to secure the funds for institute purposes this year. The proposition was passed on by the attorney general who holds that there are no school funds available for that purpose under the present law. Unless some method can be found to draw on the county general funds for institute purposes, many of the counties will be compelled to dispense with institutes this year.

Those farmers in Lake county who bought steel ranges last fall from traveling salesmen on the installment plan, and we understand there were a good many of them, will be interested in reading the following from Hamlin county where one of the gang has been brought to grief. His name is Walrath, and he was arrested on a charge of forgery while collecting on the notes given by purchasers of steel ranges to peddlers.

The complaining witness is a Mr. Jacobson. The sheriff found in the possession of Walrath a number of forged notes for amounts greater than the parties giving them had signed. One was for $60 instead of $25; another had an endorsement on it for $3.40 instead of $34; those who had turned in their old stoves for $25 each found that they were credited with only $2.50, and a clause in the contracts signed stated that no credit for old stoves shall be given except lithographed receipts were issued for the same by the company. At the examination of Walrath before a Brookings magistrate, twenty or more witnesses testified to having done business with the agents. The man was held to bail in the sum of $400, which he deposited in cash and left town. It is believed he will not return.
