Hat Pins

made out of
Real Roses

Delamotte

Real Rose Hat Pins

It does not seem possible, yet it is true, that these Hat Pins are made out of real live roses, changed entirely into metal by a secret process, preserving every detail of the rose from which each pin is made. They can not break, and will last forever. This discovery is without doubt one of the lost arts of the ancient Egyptians. They are the most beautiful of all Hat Pins. No two are alike. Finished in five colors to conform to the prevailing fashions in millinery. Made in six sizes, from the smallest rose bud to the full blown flower. These pins are made by the genuine "DELAMOTTE" secret process, the only process by which an open rose can be perfectly metalized. Don't buy an inferior imitation. All genuine "DELAMOTTE" Metalized Real Rose Hat Pins have the name stamped on the pin.

We have the exclusive right to sell "DELAMOTTE" products in this city. See the exhibit in our window of this wonderful discovery.

Ramona Times: The funeral of Miss Addie Berninger was held Wednesday afternoon at 1 p. m. Short services were held at the house and the remains then taken to the Christian church where Rev. Stockton, of Madison, delivered the funeral sermon—the most beautiful and impressive that has been heard in Ramona for a long time. The church was filled with loving friends who wished to pay their last respects to one who was loved by all who knew her. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Interment was made in the Christian cemetery.

E. C. Anderson, representing the Jerome-Rice seed company of Detroit, Mich., is in the city and will make his headquarters at O. S. Jones' office for the next ten days. As stated in The Daily Leader a day or two ago, Mr. Anderson is visiting this section for the purpose of inducing farmers to raise field peas. The plan is for the Jerome-Rice company to furnish the seed and purchase the entire product of the crop. Quite a number of farmers interested in the matter have called on Mr. Anderson and there is a disposition to engage in pea culture. The advantages of it are that peas make a good rotation crop, planted with grain drill, cut with mower and thrashed with thrashing machine. The yield is 15 to 27 bushels per acre, and the peas sell for about $1 per bushel. Mr. Anderson will be pleased to meet Lake county farmers at O. S. Jones' office during the next ten days.

DANCE OF RUIN.

Sermon by Evangelist Johnson on the Subject of Popular Amusements.

The very largest audience of the series of revival meetings assembled at the tabernacle last night, drawn there by the much advertised announcement that Evangelist Johnson would speak on the subject of Popular Amusements. The building was packed to the extent that, in the Johnsonese vernacular, every time the congregation expanded their lungs the seams of the building opened.

The large attendance put both the evangelist and singer on their metal. Singer Wegner with his choir and orchestra gave a song service which was worth the full price of admission.

At the close of the song service and after the announcements for future meetings had been published by Evangelist Johnson, Rev. Mr. Mitterling of the Presbyterian church, called attention to the fact that the financial offerings were far below the amount necessary for the expenses of the revival. The meetings had been in progress three weeks and the congregation as each meeting had been large, but less than $400 had been paid in during the series. "There is a shortage of about $300," said Mr. Mitterling, "and what we want tonight is a rousing collection; enough to cover the expenses of the revival." Mr. Mitterling was very earnest in his plea for a liberal offering, and as the ushers passed through the audience taking up the collection, Evangelist Johnson admonished the people to keep praying and make their offerings prayerfully.

Upon taking his place at the pulpit Mr. Johnson requested the assemblage to keep perfectly quiet during the service, and in order that there would be no confusion he requested the ushers to lock all the doors except the one in the northeast corner of the tabernacle "so that nobody will be butting in from the street."

In opening his address, Mr. Johnson said, "If you are here for the facts, I'll pump you full; if here to find fault, you had better get out. If I can save the virtue of one girl tonight, I will feel well repaid for my work. You may wince at my plainness, but the preacher who is easy with sin is not doing his duty to God, however he may please his church people."

Taking as his text, "Be not deceived, God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap," Gal. 6-7, the evangelist arraigned card playing, dancing and the theater in scathing terms.

Sow the saloon, reap the drunkard; sow the parlor card table, reap the gambler; sow parlor dancing, reap the ballroom; sow the ballroom, reap the brothel. The parlor card table is the kindergarten of the gamblers of hell; nine-tenths of the gamblers learned to play cards in their toyhood homes, many times taught by mothers and sisters. The professional gambler hasn't time to teach the boys to play cards—he wants the finished product—taught the game in their own homes. Some W. C. T. U. women visited a saloon and gambling house and asked the privilege of praying. They were told by the keeper, "Pray in your homes; stop card playing in your homes; this is the place we punch the ticket for the last time on the road to hell. Prayers should be said at the other end—in the homes." In many homes you will find the bible clean and new and unsoiled from handling, but look around and you find the deck of cards well worn and greasy from much handling.

The theater is the seminary of vice. There is no theater that hesitates to allow riot to go on the stage. Writers pander to the lusts of their patrons, and the most horrible things transpire in the dressing rooms. And yet people will pay more to attend the theater one night than would cover the entire expense of this series of revivals.

The dance is said to make young people graceful. I would rather my child would wobble like an elephant than attempt to make it graceful at the dancing school. But the young woman with a 25 waist puts on a 30 corset which makes her eyes bulge out like buckeyes, gets a hump in her back and off she goes to the dance. The dance is the only thing in which there is a mingling of the sexes. Husband, how would you like to see your wife in the arms of a man in your grocer's wareroom as you see her in the arms of a man in the ballroom, keeping time with her body in unison with his body? You wouldn't like that, would you? I say dancing is the only thing in which there is a mingling of the sexes. Young men do not dance with each other. A husband cares nothing for dancing with his wife. Why, he would just as soon go out on the lake and out ice as dance with his wife. But the great danger of the dance hall is the ruin of the girl. Ninety-five out of 100 girls who have gone down to degradation, point to the dance hall as the place of their first fall.

For nine years I have been engaged in this work and in no town that I have visited from Texas to the iron ranges of northern Minnesota have the people shown such contempt for my meetings as have the people of Madison, by getting up dances and parties in opposition to the revival.

Mr. Johnson's address consumed more than two hours, and was listened to with close attention by the immense congregation.
