Sioux Falls Argus Leader: Those who went to see the performance of the Washington Motion Picture company at the New theater Tuesday evening saw a first class program. Many of the pictures are finely hand colored and all are accompanied by the proper noise effects, which makes them very real. The machine throws on the screen an absolutely flickerless picture, so the eyes do not become tired during the several hours of entertainment furnished. The picture manager knows how to form an attractive program, one that appeals to all classes and everywhere.

Sioux Falls Press: Arthur Newcomb, formerly of Sioux Falls who passed away at Fallon, Neb., was born in Sioux Falls about 26 years ago. He was a son of Horace Newcomb, residing on Euclid avenue. He was a graduate of the Sioux Falls high school and later attended the state university at Vermillion. After graduating in law, Arthur Newcomb began practice at Madison, but had to give up because of ill health. He was married about two years ago to Miss Gertrude Morris, also a university student. Besides the widow, he leaves a baby boy.

A well attended meeting of citizens was held at the city hall last evening to take action in the matter of holding a race meet at the Madison fair grounds under the auspices of the Cora Belt circuit. Organization was effected by the election of Everett Wedgewood, president; Dr. Gallagher, secretary; C. A. Hackett, treasurer; W. H. Buck, Dr. F. N. Palmer, D. D. Reade, C. M. Klotzbach, P. B. Holdal, directors. A list of names to the number of about fifty business men guaranteeing the expense of the meet was read, and other names will be solicited. The meet is scheduled to be held June 29 to July 1. Another meeting is called to be held at the city hall, Friday evening, May 14. Complete program will be formulated at an early date, and the business men and horsemen of the city will boost to make the meet a grand success.

PASSED AWAY

Death of Mrs. Frank Fintzel
This Afternoon at 3 O'clock

Mrs. Frank Fintzel died at 3 o'clock this afternoon, of heart disease. Deceased has been very low for the past several days and little hope was expressed this morning that she would survive the day. Deceased is survived by four sons and two daughters—Wm. Fintzel of this city, Ed. Fintzel of Oldham and John and Henry Fintzel; Mrs. Jacob Birran of this city and Mrs. Robert Miller of Waterloo, Iowa. Announcement of the funeral will be made later. Deceased was among the early residents of the county, and is well known in the community.

SOCIALISM

An Interesting and Instructive
Lecture by Prof. Mills,
Last Evening

About 150 people attended the lecture given on socialism at the opera house last evening by Walter Thomas Mills. The speaker was deserving of a much larger audience, though those present were a fine body of people, intellectually. Nearly all the clergymen of the city were present and evidenced much interest in the lecture. The lecture was a masterly presentation of the subject of socialism, logical and convincing, and in oratory Mr. Mills is far above the average public speaker. He is clear, concise, forcible and witty and keeps his audience in excellent good humor throughout his entire two hours' talk. His line of thought is plain, practical and convincing and his subject matter could not be better described than by calling it applied Christianity. It was good. He began by telling what socialism was not—it was not an attack upon the rich, for socialism wants riches of a different kind than those of the present time; it was not an attack upon government, for socialism wants government to use it for the whole people; it is not an attack upon the family, for socialism wants the family maintained purer, happier and more comfortable than it is now; it is not an attack upon religion, for socialism does not enter the domain of religion in man's relation to his God but in his economic relation to his fellowmen.

Then Mr. Mills took up the positive side of socialism and showed what it stood for, which was chiefly and principally just the opposite of what we now have; that is, where we now have individual ownership of the means of production, transportation, the mines, forests, factories, etc., socialism would have public or collective ownership, where we now have private management of these things, socialism would have public or collective management and where we now have private use of the products or profits of these things, socialism would have public or collective use of such.

Socialism, however, would not destroy private ownership of the things which the individual earns and owns for himself. A man could become just as rich as he desired or could by his own earnings but not at the expense of others. The management of collective utilities would be placed by selection in the hands of the most capable in the particular line of business and thus best results obtained for all.

No violent revolution is necessary to bring about these things other than the violence of present conditions which are gradually tending towards socialism, and the desire of the socialist party is to get hold of the reins of government that it may the better guide these blind and destructive forces into an earlier and more peaceful social millennium.

JAPANESE OPERATTA

Large Audience Enjoy Evening
Entertainment at Normal Auditorium.

One of the most enjoyable musical entertainments ever given in Madison was the presentation of the operettas—The Japanese Girl, and A Cup of Saki—at Normal auditorium last evening. The attendance taxed the capacity of the auditorium, and the entertainment was a society event as well as a musical, all the leading citizens with their wives being present.

The operettas were presented under the direction of Miss Chamberlain and Miss Hoffman of the Normal school faculty, and the characters were represented by students of the school. The leading role of The Japanese Girl was taken by Miss Elva Davis, as a Japanese girl of position, and she sustained the part excellently with the splendid support given her by Misses Mabel Irish, Mabel Rippe, Gladys Madison, Emily McAllister, Lois Chapin and Magdalen Rensch. The Geisha girls were very attractive, in costume, and sustained their parts with grace and vivacity, including in this cast, Miss Madeline Huxford, Ethel Fowler, Pearl Palmer, Lina Dye, Alice Rippe, Claudia Compton, Jennie Krakowski, Grace DeWoody, Iona Alness, Edith Fuller and Lella Slack.

In A Cup of Saki, Miss Frances Chamberlain took the leading role, as a noble lady of uncertain age and doubtful claims to beauty. Miss Chamberlain was supported by Fred Habeger, Ben Speis, Myron Mease, Claude Kenney, the play concluding with Dance of the golden maple leaves, by Geisha girls, Misses Grace DeWoody and Pearl Palmer.

The operettas throughout were excellent, showing skill on the part of Miss Chamberlain and Miss Hoffman in musical training, drilling, etc.

The large audience was highly pleased with the evening entertainment.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received at the office of J. M. Muggil, Ramona, S. D., chairman of building committee, for the construction of an addition 82 by 32 feet and two stories high, and remodeling of the Woodman Hall, Ramona, S. D. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of J. M. Muggil. Bids will be received up until 4 p. m., Wednesday, May 13, 1909. The committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

—J. M. Muggil, Chairman.
