1835-- R. WALLACE

Silverplate that Resists Wear

Among women of taste 1835 R. Wallace Silver Plate has always received first preference. Its exquisite designs--its splendid workmanship--its "Sterling Silver" appearance--its "wear resisting" qualities--and that little added touch of the exclusive are the differences which distinguish it unmistakably from all other plated ware.

The new Blossom Pattern--a full line is found at this store--is an entirely fresh idea, delicate in design, superb in execution, finished in French Gray with polished shield. It is the pattern of the year.

An Unrestricted Guarantee That Protects You Absolutely

WE GUARANTEE that 1835 R. WALLACE Silver Plate That Resists wear, will give absolute satisfaction and we agree to stand behind and replace every piece of goods bearing the 1835 R. Wallace trade mark that does not give satisfactory service in any household.

A bicycle belonging to Leslie Crow, stolen from in front of The Daily Leader office a week ago Saturday, has been recovered. Night Officer Weinburg last night found the bicycle at the depot where it had been taken and left by the thief who probably decided that this was the easiest way out of the trouble as evidence was accumulating which would have soon landed him in the hands of the law had he kept the bicycle in his possession longer.

It is said truly that we get sufficient sorrow, trouble and care in this world without going to the theatre for it. The average amusement seeker is that in every sense of the word--he seeks amusement. He attends the theatre to enjoy himself, likes to laugh and forget his everyday cares. Consequently, in looking for entertainment, he prefers good, clean comedy to tragedy, as is conclusively proven in the decline of the heavier Shakespearean plays. "A laugh is worth a thousand groans in any market" is a most true saying, and the jolly comedy, "Hello Bill," soon to be seen here, has the market cornered in good, hearty laughs. Seats on sale tomorrow morning.

HEALTH OF STATE

Physicians Will be Interested in Statement by Doane Robinson

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 18.--I wish to call the attention of physicians, clerks of courts and the people generally to the splendid advertising given to South Dakota, through every newspaper in America using Associated Press reports, is the news special from Washington, in which the government officials accord to South Dakota the pre-eminence of being the healthiest state in the union and consequently the healthiest community in the world. This distinction is based upon the reports of deaths to this department as required by law. If South Dakota is to retain this official recognition of our healthfulness every person charged with the duty of making reports must be vigilant and prompt in the performance of duty. Should the national census next June develop that we are not securing reports upon at least ninety per cent of all births and deaths, we will not be permitted to remain in the recognized registration area. Money cannot purchase advertising so valuable to the state as the official report of our healthfulness spread broadcast over the world by the Associated Press. I trust every citizen will appreciate the value of these reports and do all he can to assure their accuracy, by reporting every birth and death, for the report of which he is liable. The importance of this work justifies co-operation of all citizens to make the returns perfect.

Doane Robinson, Secretary.
