

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Sisseton People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney trouble is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Do not neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in this locality.

Edwin Medley, of Milbank, S. Dak., says: "I suffered from kidney and bladder trouble for many years. One of the most annoying symptoms was a too frequent desire to pass the kidney secretions and on this account I was obliged to arise many times during the night. The kidney secretions were scanty and caused intense pains when being voided. My limbs ached constantly and my shoulders were so stiff that I could hardly move. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills, the rheumatic pain has been entirely removed, my kidneys have been greatly strengthened and my health has improved. Doan's Kidney Pills have my highest endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

ROOT PLEADS FOR HARMONY

Permanent Chairman of New York Convention.

DEBATE ON THE PLATFORM

Majority and Minority Reports Are Submitted and Two Hours Are Devoted to Discussion—Henry L. Stimson, Former United States District Attorney, Stated for the Nomination for Governor.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Changing political current caused a rubbing off the proposed gubernatorial slate of Harvey D. Hinman and J. Mayhew Wainwright and when the conferees who are fixing up the ticket met before the convention opened it was discovered that former United States District Attorney Henry L. Stimson of New York had developed increased strength and appeared at the moment to be the strongest candidate.

Mr. Stimson said the majority of those in conference were in favor of Mr. Stimson, but that the question had not been finally determined.

Delegates of the convention, worn and weary from the excitement and turmoil of the previous day's session, when Colonel Theodore Roosevelt scored his first victory over the old guard, had small show of enthusiasm and quietly awaited the opening of the day's proceedings.

Vice President Sherman was an early comer and was cheered, as were State Chairman Woodruff and William Barnes, Jr.

As he took up the gavel Colonel Roosevelt asked the delegates and spectators not to smoke.

The committee on credentials reported that there were no contests and there was no report to be made, which elicited from the temporary chairman words of congratulation.

Root for Permanent Chairman.

United States Senator Root was named as permanent chairman of the convention by the committee on permanent organization. The report was adopted and Senator Root escorted to the platform. Chairman Root thanked the convention for the honor they had conferred on him.

"No prepared slate of which I have heard bore my name for permanent chairman, and no prepared speech lurks in my pocket or in my hand," said the senator.

"Nor shall I detain you by any extended remarks from the work which you have before you and from addressing yourselves to the performance of that work, so that the deliberations of the convention may be finished as rapidly as possible."

The chairman said there was passing over the entire country a revolt against the time worn form of political organization.

"Initiative and referendum, recall, direct election of senators, direct nominations," said the chairman, "all are evidence that the people of our country feel that our forms of political organization do not adequately furnish the voters of our political parties means to give effect to their political will."

Root Pleads for Harmony.

"I am told that the trend of public opinion is against the Republican party this year. Well, what of it? What difference does that make to us here in the performance of our duty? When did Republicans ever lose heart or love or enthusiasm or virile effectiveness or fear of being in a minority? If the trend of public opinion is against us, we'll change it."

"If old supporters of our party have turned under some idea that they can do better elsewhere we'll show that they are wrong. We'll win."

"We will support the people of this state by deserving it."

"We will stand together, the minority and majority, doing our duty, loyally demonstrating our fitness for confidence, and we will fight on, no matter what we are told the signs of the times may be, putting ourselves right and fighting for that right not for ourselves alone, not for the candidates alone, but for other Republicans all over the state and the land, for other Republicans in days to come, for other candidates to be nominated in 1912 and in 1916 and in many and many a year to follow—not for our candidates alone, but for our country."

Chairman Root's speech was heartily cheered.

Debate on the Platform.

Mr. Prendergast of Kings county read to the convention the report of the resolutions committee. References to President Taft and Governor Hughes in it created rounds of applause.

Speaker Wadsworth moved a minority report.

Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell university, asked that the following sentence be added to the majority report:

"It being understood that the delegate conventions may be retained and that candidates for assemblymen and senators shall at the earliest possible date be selected by direct nominations."

A motion to limit the debate on the platform to two hours was carried.

HENRY L. STIMSON.

Mentioned for Head of New York Republican Ticket.

whereupon many spectators and some of the delegates left the hall.

The platform, as submitted, endorses the administrations of President Taft and Governor Hughes; declares that the Payne tariff law has been a success and refers with approval to the work of the last congress. It pledges the continuance of the state graft inquiry "until all wrongdoing capable of exposure shall be brought to light."

The plank relating to direct primaries is very brief, but admits of no misconstruction. "We promise legislation which will enact these principles into law," is the pledge.

DEMOCRATS HAVE PROBLEM TO SOLVE

Withdrawal of Gaynor Complicates Situation.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The sudden and unexpected scratching of Mayor Gaynor's name from the list of gubernatorial candidates, where by almost common opinion he held first place, leaves the Democratic leaders here for the convention fronting a problem.

"We can win with any clean man," said one of the New York men, "but with Gaynor we should have cleaned up the state."

The followers of Congressman Sulzer laid special stress on his strength with the laboring classes. The banner stretched at his headquarters at the Seneca hotel reads: "The Workingman's Choice."

Thomas M. Osborne's friends are putting him forward as the prime exponent of the "new Democracy" and the most logical candidate in view of the importance which the platform will attach to the charges of Republican misrule and corruption.

A similar claim is made by the backers of Congressman James S. Havens.

There is decidedly more discussion of the availability of Edward M. Shepard. It was said the New York attorney had refrained from pushing his candidacy only because he agreed that Mayor Gaynor should head the ticket.

The most important planks in the platform will have to do with direct nominations, tariff reform and denunciation of "Rooseveltism" or the "new nationalism." Forecasts of the platform declare the direct nominations clause will be radical.

GLENNON WILL NOT ATTEND

Prelate Declines Invitation to Peoria Roosevelt Banquet.

St. Louis, Sept. 29.—Archbishop John J. Glennon of St. Louis, who "found it impossible to attend" a banquet given by the Knights of Columbus, Peoria, Ill., at which Colonel Roosevelt will be the honored guest, was most diplomatic when interviewed on the situation.

"Would the fact that Colonel Roosevelt is to be at the banquet influence your grace to decline?" was asked.

"Now, really, I could not say anything about that," smiled the archbishop.

FAILS TO FIND HIS SON

Rear Admiral Rodgers, U. S. N., Returns From Alaska.

Dawson, Y. T., Sept. 29.—Rear Admiral John A. Rodgers, U. S. N., retired, who has been touring Alaska, searching for his missing son, is returning to Seattle. His efforts were fruitless. He found a roadhouse in the upper Tanana valley where the young man passed last spring and took a raft. It is believed he was drowned. Others declare they saw the missing man in the Tanana valley late last season.

Would Copyright Town's Name.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 29.—Wilkesbarre will try to copyright its name so that it cannot be used by any other place in the United States. Whether this can be done is uncertain, but the city council at its last meeting adopted a resolution providing that application for a copyright be made.

A BOT FLY

Nature is a great wonder-worker. It has even provided a home for the pesky bottle-fly, and that home is in the horses' stomachs. I am surprised at the vast number of horse owners and no few veterinarians, who still hold to the theory that bots in a horses stomach is something to be dreaded. They cling to the idea that "bots" kill the horse. If it were true that "bots" were so dangerous all horses, except in cities, would die for they, one and all have "bot." If "bots" were a marked injury to the horse it would be in direct conflict with nature. Who ever heard of marbles in a cows back killing the cow? A cows back is the winter abode of the Gad Fly. No, indeed, bots have never killed a horse yet. Stop and think. Will bees destroy their hives? Will rabbits destroy their burrows? much less will the bot-fly destroy a horses' stomach, for that is its home, leave bots to nature and your horse will not be troubled with them. Try and destroy them and you violate one of natures' laws and then something is doing, give a horse drugs that when mixed with the gastric juices of the stomach will form an acid naturally acid eats holes through the stomach and the bots get the blame for man's mistake. I have never doctored a horse for bots yet. If more attention was paid to the indigestion and not so much to Bot doctored there would be fewer horses die. I am up to date with the latest and best treatment for disorders of the horse. Your patronage solicited.
