"Let Well Enough Alone"

From hundreds of citizens throughout the length and breadth of South Dakota comes testimony upholding the effectiveness of the "Local Option Law" and voicing the opinion that the adoption of a state-wide Prohibition law would be a step backward.

From all sections of the State comes the cry, "Let Well Enough Alone."

Having in mind the conditions that prevailed under so-called "Prohibition" rule, there is no reason for again inaugurating an era of deceit, hypocrisy and illegal practices.

The argument that the "present day sentiment" is strong for enforcement of Prohibition laws finds no supporting evidence. Maine has had Prohibition for 50 years, and by every rule of Prohibition argument should be free from liquor drinking and liquor selling. What is the testimony?

Read the Following Excerpt

(From the Daily Argus, Portland, Me.—Maine's largest newspaper—Jan. 23, 1916)

"All the gin mills and booze joints in this city are now running wide open and in full blast. There is no concealment about it.  There's a reason. As a specimen of smug hypocrisy you can't beat it. The rum sellers who voted the [] ticket at last election are now receiving their reward by being tolerated. The unseen influences behind the mayor are already making themselves felt."

Does South Dakota want that kind of Prohibition?

Is such Prohibition better than Local Option? Will South Dakota deliberately take a step backward? The answer is "Let Well Enough Alone."

Vote "NO" on state-wide Prohibition.

BOOM TOWN, BUT STILL THERE'S NO JAG LIST

Augusta, Kan., Center of Oil Field, Has Nothing Stronger Than Soda.

Augusta, Kan.—Makers of boom towns always have to have something to drink. And with Kansas a prohibition state, the men who have flocked here in connection with the oil developments have turned to soft drinks. With temperatures around 100 for six weeks the local drug stores found the demand for ice drinks so great that they are moving out their old drug store fixtures to make room for more fountains, more tables and more booths. Two and three "soda squirts" are on duty in each place each day and at night their forces are more than doubled.

"You got to stand in line half an hour at night to get a drink," explained one hotel clerk.

Some of the fountains are fixed up like real bars—brass rail, frosted mirrors and booths along the walls. It's all there except the drinks.

"Augusta is as peaceful as any village. The lid is on tight," this same hotel clerk confided, "and every arrest means a conviction with a regular fine."

"SAY SQUIRREL," A SPY TEST.

Mural Painter Tells How English Captors at Holyhead Freed Him.

New York.—J. J. A. Murphy, a mural painter who has been four years in England engaged in panel work, is in this country to execute some decorative work in Boston. Mr. Murphy said that crossing over to Ireland was a trying experience on account of the fear by the government officials.

At Holyhead he was arrested as a German spy and for three hours had to stand upon the stone pier with bayonets pressed lightly against his chest while two English officers put him through a severe examination.

Finally one of the officers said to him, "Say squirrel." Mr. Murphy obeyed the request, and the senior officer then said to him, "You are free."

When he asked what the word squirrel had to do with his being suspected as a spy the officer replied, "A German can't say squirrel."

HEALTH MOVIES POPULAR.

Outfit of North Carolina Board of Health Is in Demand.

Raleigh, N. C.—The moving picture outfit of the state board of health has struck a pleasant chord with the people. While the outfit was in use in Union county Anson county made application for a three weeks' engagement, which was granted. The pictures are shown in connection with the anti-typhoid campaign now on, and both features of health work are being well received.

While health moving pictures are more or less a new feature of health educational work, they are meeting the same popularity that the regular movies have always met and are in demand wherever their worth and popularity are known. Already the counties of Wake, Johnston and Alamance have had the use of the pictures.

Detroit.—Establishment of a school for teaching girls motherhood is provided in the will of Mrs. Lizzie Merrill Palmer, widow of Senator Thomas W. Palmer, recently died for probate in Detroit. The amount for the school is not designated, but it is the residue of Mrs. Palmer's estate. Probate officials believe that the legacy will amount to approximately $1,000,000. DOUD & OLSON

CUPID IN A KEG OF POWDER.

English Girl Making Munitions Writes New Jersey Worker.

Konvill, N. J.—Harry Huberman, an employee at the Hercules Powder works here, recently inscribed his name and address on the face of an old broken watch and dropped it into a keg of smokeless powder which was to be shipped to England.

This little incident may mean a wife for Huberman, who received a letter the other day from a young English woman working in a munition factory at Newcastle-on-Tyne and inviting Huberman to correspond, which he has done.

The letter was from Miss Jean Bumpston of 55 Hunter's road, Spittal Tongues, Newcastle. The timepiece, it is believed, was discovered by Miss Bumpston as she was filling shell cases with the explosive.

POLITICS CHEAP IN KANSAS.

Seventeen Candidates Didn't Spend a Cent For Office.

Topeka, Kan.—Seventeen candidates for state office and the state legislature went through the recent state wide primary without spending a cent. This was the record shown in the sworn statements of campaign expenses as filed with J. T. Borkin, secretary of state.

Nine other candidates spent a dollar or less in making their campaign, while seven candidates won nominations on expenses of less than 50 cents, three spent a dime or less, and two won nominations for the price of a two cent postage stamp, according to the statements. All candidates were within the 10 per cent limit allowed by law.

BROILED LIZARD AS FOOD.

Claim Made by Native Epicures of Nicaragua Backed by U. S. Marines.

Managua, Nicaragua.—Perhaps broiled lizard will never find its way to the menu cards of fashionable New York restaurants, but the United States Marines attached to the American legation here have found fried or broiled iguana steaks served with a tasty sauce made from alligator persis to be everything claimed by the native epicures.

The iguana, or giant lizard, has been used for food by the natives for many years, and iguana steak finds much favor with them because of its gamey taste. The iguana is herbivorous.

ROBBED FRIEND YEARS AGO.

Wichita (Kan.) Banker Hears From Man Whom He Never Suspected.

Wichita, Kan.—Thirty-six years ago A. J. Hargis, vice president of the Security State bank of this city, spent the night in a Medicine Lodge hotel with a young friend who had come west with him to make a fortune. In the night their room was entered, and Hargis was minus $14 in the morning.

He had forgotten the incident, becoming wealthy in the meantime, but the other day a letter came from the former bed mate telling him that his conscience would no longer permit him to live in peace until he had confessed that he was the robber. The letter stated that the writer didn't have the $14 handy now, but would send it soon.
