Poultry Dept.

The profitable chickens are the ones that lay in winter when eggs are high, but to have them lay the coop must be fairly warm and free from drafts. A well ventilated coop has no frost gathering on walls or ceiling.

Feeding is also very important at this time. A varied grain ration is necessary. A good scratch feed is composed of 50 parts cracked corn, 30 parts wheat and balance whole oats or barley, or both. Keep ground feed of most any kind mixed with shorts or bran and about 10 per cent of fish scrap or tankage in a hopper before them at all times. A warm mash at noon with a condition powder well mixed into it is good. Some green feed such as cabbage leaves, mangels, sprouted oats, can be fed at noon in place of the mash. Always have good gravel and oyster shells before them.

Feed goes a long way toward egg production, but do not overlook the necessity of warm, clean water. An egg is 85 per cent water, therefore, water is surely the greatest item. Any of the standard non-freezable waterers will pay for itself in a short time. If you want your chickens to lay get one.

At the present price of grain there is very little excuse for not getting eggs this year.

Do not overlook the possibility of the turkey. The price mounts higher and higher each year. They will roam the fields all summer, picking up the injurious insects that are damaging the grain-yield more than the turkeys. They do not trample the grain as some suppose. Just get a few hens and a gobbler and let them go their way, the result will surprise you when you sell them in the fall.

Sisseton will have a poultry show in January and you should put one or more of your best birds in this show. Not so much for the prizes you might get as for the good of the poultry business on the farm. If you join the association and put up a bird or two your neighbor will do the same. Let's all do it and help put Roberts county on the poultry map. Let's just see how our stuff compare with the rest, maybe it's better than we expected.

Last, but not least, let's all feed up them hens and pullets and get some eggs this winter. It can be done. Get busy right now and see what you can do with that flock. Let's go!

WOOL GROWERS ORGANIZING TO MANUFACTURE BLANKETS

J. E. BOOG-SCOTT, COLEMAN, TEX., FARM BUREAU FED'R., TO MARKET WOOL.

American wool growers are not bowing to a depressed selling market without a struggle. Their latest plan is for a direct cooperative marketing plan which includes manufacturing blankets from the virgin wool and with a saving to consumers of at least 50 per cent.

Through the National Wool Growers' Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation the plan is to manufacture woolen blankets, made from three-eighths wool grown in Iowa, Michigan, Wyoming, Texas and other western states, and sell direct from designated mills to the consumer. The wool growers are desperate, as there is absolutely no market for wool and all warehouses are loaded to the roofs. The pictures show wool interests from various territories backing this plan.

Poindexter Bill

affair shows that the enemies of labor are on the alert and are determined to rivet shackles on the workers if such a thing be possible.

Provisions of Poindexter Bill

The first section of the Poindexter bill provides that "whoever with intent to obstruct, delay, injure, or prevent the movement of commodities in commerce with foreign nations or among the several states, shall, by word of mouth, or by the presentation, exhibition or circulation of written or printed words, or otherwise solicit, advise, induce or persuade, or attempt to induce or persuade, any person or persons employed by any carrier subject to the act to regulate commerce or amendments thereto, in any capacity in the production, care, maintenance or operation of any means or agency of such commerce to quit such employment shall be guilty of a felony and punished by a fine not exceeding $10,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding 10 years, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

$15,000 Fine and 15 Years

The next section provides that any one who attempts to prevent any person from engaging in employment incident to interstate commerce shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $15,000 and imprisonment not exceeding 15 years, or both. That's intended for the leaders of labor organizations.

The third action provides that any one who shall injure, disable, destroy any car, bridge, track, ship or any other means or agency of commerce, or who shall persuade others to do so with the intention of preventing the movement of interstate commerce, shall be subject to a fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for 10 years, or both.

The foregoing sections deal with the activities of ordinary employes and officials of labor unions.

Deals Gently With "Higher-ups"

The fourth section has to do with officers, directors managers, attorneys, etc., or railroads, who may interfere with interstate commerce. The bill is much more considerate of the "higher-ups." They may interfere with interstate commerce as much as they see fit, but they shall not be punished by a fine exceeding $500, or by imprisonment exceeding 6 months, and their offenses shall be considered a misdemeanor and not a felony.

The history of the Poindexter bill is full of mystery. After it had been introduced by the senator from Washington it was referred to the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. It was given some consideration by the members but Senator Walcott of Delaware, a member of the committee, declares that no formal vote was ever taken on it.

Slipped Out of Committee

He insists he does not know how it was reported to the senate. Apparently it was slipped out of the committee last summer while Senator La Follette was undergoing an operation at Rochester, Minn. La Follette is also a member of the committee, and when in good health is always on the job. He did not know that the bill had been reported by the committee, and the first information he had to show it was before the senate was when he was informed that it had been slipped through.

"I shall certainly vote for the motion to reconsider the bill," said Senator Walcott. "Whether one favors the measure or not is not the question now at issue. A bill of so vast importance to so many hundreds of thousands of our citizens should not be permitted to go through the senate until it has been fully debated."—Labor

Let's settle this right now!

No man ever smoked a better cigarette than Camel!

You'll find Camels unequalled by any cigarette in the world at any price because Camels combine every feature that can make a cigarette supreme!

Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos puts Camels in a class by themselves. Their smoothness will appeal to you, and permit you to smoke liberally without tiring your taste!

Camels leave no unpleasant cigarettey aftertaste nor unpleasant cigarettey odor!

You'll prefer Camels blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes for 20 cents, or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.
