THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1908.

Lake Huron is dotted with over 3,000 islands. This is more than any other lake has in the world.

The panicky times are said to be responsible for the large number of political fledglings everywhere in evidence.

A resolution authorizing the education of seven Filipinos at West Point has been introduced in the senate by Warren of Wyoming.

Congressman Tawney is on the trail of the spy system, and if he maintains his record and makes good his reputation, somebody had better take to the woods.

Heny is promising the people that he is going to say something about Fulton before he leaves Portland, but is going to keep it until just before his departure. He evidently thinks it will be necessary for him to take a night train out.

For helping to cheat the United States out of $2,500,000, former examiner of silks, Charles C. Browne of the customs service is to be banished forever from the United States. Twenty-four hours will be given him to leave his native land.

W. B. Sams, allotting agent for the Cosur d'Alene Indian reservation, has entered upon his labors. It is thought the work of allotment will begin very soon and that the reservation will be opened for settlement on July 1st. Hundreds of people are anxiously awaiting the opening, and reports indicate that thousands will apply.

Cigarette smoking will be barred in Oklahoma if the bill recommended for passage becomes a law. The measure is drastic, calling for a fine from $5 to $25 if a person is caught smoking cigarettes in Oklahoma, a fine of $100 to $200 for having cigarettes or the "makings" in one's possession, or selling or giving them away.

A cablegram from Manila to the insular bureau announces that Taft delegates were chosen to represent the Philippines in the republican national convention, with instructions to vote for Taft, first, last, and all the time. All the men named are Americans, three being officeholders. What do you think of that, after Roosevelt's instructions to officeholders about mixing in politics?
