ITO'S DEATH
MAY CHANGE POLICIES

Japan Statesmen Say Korea Has Never Understood Japan and Policies Must Change.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Tokio, Oct. 27.—The elder statesmen and ministers of state who were interviewed today admitted that the assassination of Prince Ito makes inevitable a change in the policies of Japan and Korea.

While they will not admit that Ito's methods were wrong or too cruel, they say that the Koreans never have understood the real spirit of Japan.

Count Okuma, who is known as the most eloquent man of Japan, is the—most silent today. He is overcome by the death of the prince, and when pressed for a statement replied:

"I cannot speak of it. Do not ask me."

Count Komura, the foreign minister, also was deeply affected. He said:

"The prince has died ten years too soon. Fools destroy their happiness by murdering their benefactors."

The extraordinary meeting of the elder statesmen and the cabinet ministers remained in session at the foreign office nearly all of Tuesday night. The effect of the assassination upon the foreign policy of the nation was discussed in detail.

The officials concurred in an expression of regret, in which they stated their belief that in the death of Prince Ito, the nation has lost its greatest, most representative man and highest authority on diplomatic affairs.

It was decided that the trial of the assassin should be held at Seoul, the capital of Korea. In this way his punishment will be brought close to the people of Korea, and the statesmen have decided that it is best to hold the trial where all Koreans may know the details of its procedure and its findings.

The newspapers here declared that anti-Japanese journalists, who have been active from time to time in Korea, are responsible for the assassination, as they inspired the Koreans to commit acts of violence against the Japanese officials in Korea.

The battleship Iwate was dispatched today, with the imperial chamberlain and a large delegation of high officials for Dairen, where the body of the prince will be taken aboard to be brought to Yokohama. The Iwate will reach Dairen next Sunday.

Tokio is gloomy today and consternation prevails throughout the country. The emperor and empress are mournful and the sorrow at the assassination of the prince affects all classes of the people.

The time to have the brightest lamps lit, the hottest supper ready, to wear the gayest dresses and hunt up the funniest stories in one's memory is the cold, rainy night, when there will be no company, but when the home-coming husband, sons, or brothers will doubly enjoy the cheer.

THE SPOILERS
ARE COMING FROM ALASKA

A Realistic Story of Mining Life in the Great Rush to Dawson in the Last Century.

Henry MacRae, who presents at the Grand opera house this Wednesday night that fascinating story of Alaska life, "The Spoilers," with Margaret Oswald in the leading role, has been adroit in the seasoning he has given this play, and the accessories with which he has surrounded it. Rex Beach, that well known and popular author of the play, has evidently had an intimate knowledge of what counts for most in Alaska life. Perhaps the most striking scenes in modern drama will be the reproduction of the historical dance hall known as "The Northern" as it existed in 1900 in Nome. This scene shows the gambling room, with the tables full of players, the bar-room; in fact every detail is complete.

The company presenting "The Spoilers" number eighteen people, numbering several well-known people. An added feature to this production is a pack mailmooters, six in number. These are the famous hunkies that drew the mail in the far north.

GREAT CONTEST CREATED BY THE MAGNIFICENT PRIZES

A Splendid Array of Gifts Worth Thousands of Dollars—Anybody in the Three Districts Is Eligible to Competition for These Prizes—Make a Nomination at Once—Don't Put It Off—Thirteen Prizes in All.

Enthusiasm in the Capital Journal's great $3000 contest increases with every hour. Each mail brings in nominations from both in and out of the city.

The great voting contest is the subject of much discussion in hundreds of homes all over the surrounding country, and bids fair to eclipse anything ever attempted in this city.

The voting has commenced in earnest by next Sunday, when the first list of candidates will be given out, with the number of votes accorded each, the contest will have a strong and interesting foundation.

Don't fail to cut out the coupons and nomination blanks for your candidate, also request your friends to insist on receiving the special vote coupon when paying their subscription. Every collector of this paper has a book, and will give you the ballots if you ask for them. If you pay the carrier boy bring the receipt to The Journal office and the votes will be given free of cost.

Every month's subscription counts and it takes but a few votes to place your favorite candidate in the lead and secure the prestige which comes with a good beginning.

The many candidates who will appear in this list will furnish many surprises to the people of Salem and surrounding country who will become interested in the offer of The Journal.

The precaution taken by the contest department to make this a high class proposition will be verified when this list is published, and the candidates and their friends will feel a further inspiration to get out and win.

It seems that there is still some misunderstanding as to when the votes will be counted. The first count will be made Saturday forenoon, and the candidates, with their standing, will appear Saturday afternoon, after which time the ballots will be counted every day at 12 o'clock p. m. and will appear the following afternoon in The Journal. Votes received after that hour will not appear until the next issue.

The general interest taken in the great popular contest, as manifested by the number and high character of nominations received, is a source of much satisfaction to The Journal. The value and attractiveness of the prizes have evidently stimulated a keen and spirited rivalry, which will interest most of the people of Salem and the surrounding country. Such general interest shown at this early stage of the contest shows a determined effort on the part of the contestants to win, and without doubt establishes the popularity of The Journal's magnificent and liberal offer.

You may want one of those beautiful high grade upright pianos, a fine gold watch, one of the big diamond rings, a scholarship in a business college. The opportunity is now furnished you to satisfy your desire.

Go to good start. Pledge your friends for your support. Organize your acquaintances and your chances to win increase. Read Saturday's Journal. If your name is not there, send in your nomination.

The expense of this contest will be a heavy one for The Journal, but everything has been arranged for, and not one objectionable feature will mar the pleasure and convenience of the successful candidates. The prizes have been bought and are now on display.

Nominations in The Journal contest are coming in rapidly and a number of bright and popular young ladies have already entered the competition.

If you have not already entered the race, or entered the name of your friends, you should do so at once.

If there is anything concerning the great contest that is not plain to you drop a postal card to the contest manager and say: "I do not understand," giving your name and address, and full information will be furnished.

There is a great deal to be gained in a contest of this kind, both in pleasure and experience. And those who enter at the start, of course, have the best chance of winning. Get your friends to aid you, and you will be surprised to see how rapidly the votes roll up.

The prizes are especially liberal, with none of the objectionable features usually accompanying such affairs. To win one of The Journal's prizes will be a very gratifying honor, and of immeasurable pleasure and profit to the winners.

There is a ballot box in The Journal office, where the votes may be deposited for any of the young ladies whom you may see fit to vote for. If you cannot bring the ballots to the office, send them in by mail to the contest manager, and the votes will be credited to the young lady for whom they are intended. The votes are counted twice, so there can be no mistake as to the proper number of ballots accorded to each candidate. The votes are always open for inspection, and can be canvassed by any one desiring to do so.

Remember that each nomination blank counts 20 votes. A girl can be nominated as many times as she can get blanks. There is no restriction placed on a contestant as to where she can go in soliciting subscriptions and gathering votes. For example, a girl located in District No. 1 can solicit votes in any territory, but she does not have to compete with any contestant except those in her own district.

Open Evenings.

For the benefit of those who are not able to get to this office during business hours, the contest department will be open every evening.

How to Win.

Any young lady who desires to enter this contest and win one of the magnificent prizes offered should see that her name is sent to the contest department. All that is necessary to win a prize is to receive the largest number of votes according to the conditions mentioned elsewhere in this announcement.

Candidates should at once interest their friends in the contest, and by united and energetic action induce as many people as possible to vote

Do
You Realize?

That despondency in women is a mental condition often traceable to some distinctly female ill!

Women who are well do not have the blues, neither are they irritable and restless. Derangement of the female organism breeds all kinds of miserable feelings such as backache, headache, and bearing-down feelings. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There is no doubt that it has made many remarkable cures of female ills after all other means had failed. There is hardly a day that some woman does not write us that this simple old medicine, made only of roots and herbs, has cured her of a severe illness after several doctors had done their best and failed.

Here are two such letters—read them—they are genuine and reliable.

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery to me. I had suffered with female troubles so long that I was discouraged. I had given up all hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It restored my health and I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Ford, 1938 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md.

Rockland, Me.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side and was miserable in every way. I had doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it.

"After taking three bottles I never was so well in my life. I am recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—Mrs. Will Young, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

for them. Each nomination coupon cut from The Journal will count 20 votes for a candidate.

The nomination coupons will only appear for a few days, and only a limited number of nominations will be accepted. Cut the nomination blank from this issue and sent it to The Capital Journal with your name or the name and address of your favorite candidate. A subscription is not necessary, but a good start means much. The name of the person making the nomination will not be divulged, if so requested.

Orders for the prizes will be given the successful contestants at the close of the contest; same may be used by the contestant herself or
