

MOTION TO DISMISS STOPS A SENSATION

Prosecution Drops Case When Husband Refuses to Testify—Silverton Liquor Cases Are Also Dropped.

The regular attendants of Department No. 1 of the circuit court were deprived of a sensation today when Judge Kelly allowed the motion to dismiss the suit against Irene K. Wright, who was indicted on a charge of adultery.

This case comes from Turner, where the parties of the suit are all well known, and the case attracted considerable attention when Spurgeon was called for trial.

District Attorney Ringo moved this morning to dismiss the five indictments against Lewis Johnson, the Silverton druggist, who was tried on the first indictment during the March term of court.

A judgment in favor of James G. Heitzel was awarded in the circuit court yesterday against J. W. Evans.

controversy, a thing strictly against English precedent.

Nevertheless, the party leaders, including Premier Aquith, Sir Edward Carson, the anti-home rule leader; A. Bonar Law, conservative chief; John Redmond, head of the Irish delegation in parliament, and Speaker Lothor, of the house of commons, responded.

The king received them with a speech in which he declared that "the cry of civil war is on the lips of the most responsible and sober minded of my people."

Falling a compromise, there seemed nothing left but for the liberal, labor and Irish parliamentary alliance to force the home rule bill through in defiance of its opponents.

The London Daily Telegraph published a Dublin dispatch to the effect that the war office had warned all British soldiers, on pain of court-martial, not to instruct or aid the Ulster forces, which threaten armed resistance to home rule.

BOY RUNS WILD IN THE HILLS OF CLACKAMAS

Estacada, Ore., July 24.—Chief Forest Ranger Hugh Mendenhall, in charge of the Upper Clackamas division, reports that a boy about 13 years old has been wandering around in the mountains for the last two weeks, visiting the different ranger stations and keeping camp.

The boy refuses to give his name or any information as to his home and his clothing is ragged from shoes to coat. When last seen, near the Oak Grove ranger station, the ranger attempted to detain him, but the boy broke away and was last seen running up the trail toward Black Wolf Meadows.

A judgment in favor of James G. Heitzel was awarded in the circuit court yesterday against J. W. Evans.

CAILLAUX TRIAL IS NEARING THE END

First Wife Plays a Leading Trump by Producing the Much-Talked-of Letters and Handing Them to Attorney.

Paris, July 24.—Hoots, hisses and catcalls greeted ex-Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux today when he stepped from his automobile at the palace of justice to attend the trial of his wife, Henriette, on charge of murdering Editor Gaston Calmette of "Le Figaro."

There was no question that strong feeling was aroused against him by the charges his divorced wife made against him on the witness stand at yesterday's session of court. It was generally agreed that the former Mme. Caillaux behaved with dignity and good taste, and that by turning over to Fernand Lahori, Mme. Caillaux's lawyer, the two letters, it was said the Caillauxes feared Calmette would publish, she had placed the defense in a most awkward situation.

The letters were supposed to be part of the same series as the "Ton Jo" communication, which actually appeared in "Le Figaro," with Calmette's killing as a sequel.

If these letters were, in fact, as damaging to Caillaux and his wife as they professed, how, it was generally asked, could they afford to have them made public in connection with Mme. Caillaux's trial? If, on the other hand, they could be read in open court without ruining the Caillauxes, it would be impossible for the prisoner to contend longer that they constituted an excuse for killing Calmette.

A Clever Attorney. From this dilemma Attorney Lahori resorted to a clever maneuver today to extricate himself.

Recalling the former Mme. Caillaux to the witness stand, he said: "Madame, you played me a trick yesterday. I return our letters to you. All three are interesting and only two might be relative."

And he offered the witness the letters. The former Mme. Caillaux flushed and with a dramatic gesture refused to accept them. Then she left the stand.

The success of this move by Lahori was considered problematical. It appeared to have relieved him of the necessity of making the letters public, but many believed the impression would be that he had done so because he could not have read otherwise without damaging either his client or her husband.

JONES WITHDRAWAL MAY CAUSE A ROW

Some of the Democratic Senators Want President's Statement and May Fly the Beaten Track.

Washington, July 24.—Democrats here declared today that President Wilson's withdrawal, at the appointee's own request, of the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago for a place on the federal reserve board accentuated the break between the president and certain leading democratic senators who opposed confirmation of the executive's selection.

Senators Reed and Hitchcock were said by the latter to resent the president's reference in his letter of withdrawal to "members of the majority who have usually acted with the republicans."

Incidentally it was expected Reed would lose the "inside" track on federal patronage and specifically that his candidate would not get the Kansas City postmastership.

An alternative appointment of Jones, it was understood, would be made and confirmed August 1.

It was admitted at the White House that the name chosen in Jones' place would be a Chicagoan, like Jones himself, "if possible."

The president was understood to have urged Paul M. Warburg of New York, as second federal reserve board appointee whose confirmation was held up in the senate, to decide at once whether or not he would appear before the committee on banking and currency for examination.

Warburg originally refused to appear and asked, as did Jones later, that his appointment be withdrawn. He was persuaded, however, to reconsider this request, as the administration was hopeful, if he would answer the committee's questions, that he would be confirmed.

Many senators were said to approve of him in principle, who would, nevertheless, vote against him if he declined to express himself.

The objections to Jones were based on his connection, as a director, with the International Harvester company. Warburg was asked to tell the committee something of his connection with the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Feeling at the White House over the outcome of the Jones' difficulty was said to be very bitter. It was understood that several democratic senators besides Reed and Hitchcock were blamed.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Color, Lustre and Puckiness to Hair When Faded, Struck or Gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. THE EXPRESS IS IN THIS TOWN

And in to Stay

FOR seventy-five years—three quarters of a century—the express has been the right-hand of the shippers of commercial America. The express came to Salem in 1854, and it came to stay. For sixty years it has been the right-hand of commercial Salem.

It is here to stay. The other day when reports went out that the express companies might retire from business, a protest went up. From whom this protest—the express companies? No! The merchants of the country—shippers everywhere—petitioned Congress that no action be taken that might have the effect of forcing the express companies to retire. Commercial organizations all over the world have joined in this appeal to Washington.

For seventy-five years in the past and for a good many more years in the future Express Service will mean

THE MISSING GIRL HAD NOT LEFT HOME

While Police Were Looking for Her All Over the Country, Lottie Milne Was Home and Sick in Bed.

San Francisco, July 24.—While the police of half a dozen cities between Toronto and San Francisco have been searching for Miss Lottie Milne, who was thought to have been lost en route while on her way here to become the bride of Allen Watten, the young woman has been ill in Toronto, never having left that city.

Last Tuesday, Watten, a young business man, appealed to the police for aid in finding Miss Milne. He had received a telegram saying that she had left Toronto for San Francisco July 15. When her baggage arrived July 19 he became alarmed.

Watten received a telegram today from Miss Milne's mother, saying she had been detained in Toronto by illness.

GANG OF BURGLARS ARE WORKING SOUTHEAST OREGON

Medford, Ore., July 24.—That gang of burglars are at work about Medford is proved by the robbery of Mrs. Waters, at 1024 West Eleventh street, Wednesday night, the fourth robbery around Medford in a week.

At Gold Hill a more desperate gang at 2:15 Thursday morning blew the safe in the M. S. Johnson saloon and secured $15. Valuable jewelry was stolen at Mrs. Waters. One ring containing three opals and three emeralds, one solitaire amethyst ring and one chain gold ring, marked "E. W. and H. R." are among the missing articles.

It is not known whether the job was the work of a single burglar or a gang. The police have no theories. Some think that the burglaries are the work of "floaters," a large number of whom pass through Medford every day. The work is thought too bold and desperate for this class of thieves and another theory is that a gang of cracksmen is making the rounds of Southern Oregon cities.

CHEMAWA NOTES.

Appearances are changing in the vicinity of Chemawa. The moss-covered roof of the Richetts house is a thing of the past, as it now has a new coat, and from the herd of Poland Chinas which now inhabit the orchard everything would indicate that an easterner had arrived on the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Taylor Jones and son Russell have just returned from Lamar, Mo., where they have been visiting Mr. Jones' mother. They are now visiting Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Lewis, near Chemawa. They expect to return to their home at Dallas, Oregon, soon, at which place Mr. Jones is prominently connected with the S. F. C. & W. Ry. Co. They report extremely hot weather in the east, and were de-lighted to get back to Oregon, "God's country."
